

HARTMANN'S PROCEDURE

The sigmoid colon and upper part of the rectum are removed, and an end colostomy is created. This type of surgery would be performed for cancer in the sigmoid colon and for complications as a result of diverticular disease.

